William Nelson Pendleton, Susan P. Lee : Memoirs of William Nelson Pendleton before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Memoirs of William Nelson Pendleton:

2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Biography of General Lee's Chief of Artillery By Michael Grainge Brig. Gen William Pendleton was Gen. Lee's Chief of Artillery and also Lee's Chaplain/friend. Although I purchased this book to learn more about Gen. Pendleton and his relationship with Lee, I was pleasantly surprised as the amount of background material his daughter, the author, presents not only of the war, but of the conditions of life in that period of time. Much of the information presented in this book comes from Gen. Pendleton's letters that his daughter had collected. Her personal views of the war and its causes reflect the attitudes of a southern woman of that time that are most revealing. I found myself learning more about the war and the aura of the times than I would have expected. History books don't usually present this kind of background information. I recommend this book to anyone interested in the Civil War from a personal southern perspective.

By his daughter, Susan P. Lee, originally published in 1893. Valuable narrative of Brigadier-General, C.S.A. Chief of Artillery, Army of Northern Virginia, Rector of Latimer Parish, Lexington, Va. Dr. Pendleton's address on the 'Personal Recollection of General Robert E. Lee' is appended to this edition. Gray cloth with black lettering on spine, 541 pages.
