From Amsterdam University Press : People under Power: Early Jewish and Christian Responses to the Roman Empire (Early Christianity in the Roman World) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised People under Power: Early Jewish and Christian Responses to the Roman Empire

(Early Christianity in the Roman World):

This volume presents a batch of incisive new essays on the relationship between Roman imperial power and ideology and Christian and Jewish life and thought within the empire. Employing diverse methodologies that include historical criticism, rhetorical criticism, postcolonial criticism, and social historical studies, the contributors offer fresh perspectives on a question that is crucial for our understanding not only of the late Roman Empire, but also of the growth and change of Christianity and Judaism in the imperial period.

"The essays collected in this volume present significant contributions and innovative approaches that should have an impact not only on the study of Jewish and Christian relations with the Roman Empire, but also on specific fields."
